(24) PHOTOGRAPHS OF CARBONDALE CITY HALL

Reproduced on the following page is an ektaprint copy of the title page of A Sketch of the Early Days of Carbondale as a Village and City. Together with Cuts of the First Landmarks and Portraits of Some of Its Pioneer Citizens. 1901. This sketch is given in Historical Souvenir of Carbondale, Penn'a. Published on the occasion of the Semi=Centennial Celebration of its Incorporation as a City. Sept. 1, 2, 3 and 4th, 1901. Press of The Evening Leader, Carbondale, Pa.

Shown on this title page is a photograph of the facade of Carbondale City Hall as it appeared in 1901, and as it appears today (a clock was placed in the tower in 1916). In this photograph, Carbondale City Hall is seen from Memorial Park (which is situated in the tirangular lot directly across North Main Street from Carbondale City Hall; on the 1873 D. G. Beers map of Carbondale, this park is referred to as "Public Grounds"). Also shown in this photograph are the Soldiers' Monument (foreground) and, at the right, the Harrison House (no longer standing).
